

Amit Sheen - resume

Hey guys, nice to meet you.

I'm an experienced web developer, doing mainly front-end, specializing in CSS, animations, and creative coding.

I have a pathological curiosity about new technologies, a constant desire to learn new things, and I'm always ready for a new challenge.

Community contribution

I've been a guest speaker on a large number of meetups and conferences, talking about CSS and JavaScript, or doing some live-coding. I've also published a few articles, I'm a frequent guest on relevant Twitch and YouTube channels, and my work is frequently featured on some of the most respectable websites and newsletters.

I have a very active Twitter account, where I'm in constant contact with thousands of developers, I'm an active admin of our local CSS community (CSS Masters Israel), and recently started co-organizing a new series of meetup under the branding of "CodePen.IL".

Why me?

First off, I love what I do, and proud of it. I'm agile, versatile, learn fast, and work faster. Besides, people say I'm a pretty nice guy, it's up to you to prove them wrong.
